OREGON'S BOILING SPRINGS.

Laundry is to Be Established. G. Grimes, the owner of the hot springs two miles south of Lakeview, Or., has decided to put in a laundry gallons of hot water that are going to waste to laundry purposes. There is only a small amount of it now being used for bathing purposes. The water boils out of these springs and runs to waste in a volume two feet wide and six inches deep and at a distance of 100 yards, in ordinary weather, is at the boiling point. During winter or summer ranchers scald their hogs in the pared for that purpose by the butchers. Within a radius of three miles of Lakeview there are three of these springs, and all are very large. It is claimed that a move is on foot to convert the hot water from some of these springs to use in a wool washing plant. The wool is shipped in its natural state, and the expense of washing is said to be enormous, but the washing would cost but a nominal sum

Physicians and friends could give little relief or encouragement to one afflicted with this terrible disease. Even now doctors know of no remedy for this fearful maiedy; while admitting it to be a blood disease, they still insist that there is no hope outside of a surgical operation, and advise you to have the Cancer cut out, but at the same time cannot assure you that it will not return. You may cut or draw out the case, but another will come the its place, for the disease is in the blood—is deep-seated and destructive, and beyond the reach of the surgeon's knife or caustic, flesh-destroying players. The blood must be purified and strengthened, the system relieved of all poisonous, effect matter before the Cancer sore will heal.

S. S. S. is the only medicine that can overcome this powerful and contaminating poison and force it out of the blood. It builds up and invigorates the old, and supplies new, rich, life-giving blood. S. S. S. is a purely vegetable remedy; no mineral can be found in it; the roots and herbs from which it is made contain powerful purifying properties that act directly upon the blood system and make a safe and permanent cure of Cancer. It has cured thousands, why, not you?

Cancer is not always inherited; your family may be free from any taint, yet your blood may become so polluted that a severe and stubborn form of the disease may

A recent bitale la Alathe's Maja zine describes the University of Penn sylvania's excavations at Nippur. Ti. article reads in part:

"The mounds which are being exea vated at Nippur cover several distinccities, each one apparently having becfounded on the ruins of the city which preceded it. It would seem that whe a temple had crumbled away a new dynasty would level the ruins by build ing a platform over them. On this the new temple would be built. Five or more such platforms have been discovered in Nippur, and each one repre sents an interval of centuries. Each city in a manner became the cellar of its successor, and one can imagine in the millenniums that passed some in habitant discovering a strange passageway beneath his house winding down to wonderful caverns. Yet the platforms seem to have kept the periods quite separate. Of course those objects which are comparatively recent were found not far below the surface of the mounds. Such, for instance, were the business records of the firm of Murashu Sons of Nippur, concern which thrived in the time of Artaxerxes I, 464 years before Christ. These tablets are in a sense the oldest bookkeeping records in the world. Professor Hilprecht, in telling how be found

"'While exploring the central part of the northwestern ridge of the ruins of Nippur we discovered a room, 5.5 by 2.75 meters wide, about six meters be low the surface. Its celling had col lapsed long ago, its side walls for the greater part were in ruins, and the clay floor was covered with earth and rubbish from above. A gang of trained Affej workmen was ordered to remove the debris that filled the room when suddenly they noticed numerous clay tablets lying upon the floor. A fee hours later the whole room had been carefully searched and cleaned. Sever hundred and thirty tablets were gath ered and safely stored in the castle o our fortified camp. "'After a critical examination of the building itself and of the condition, position and contents found therein it be came evident that the excavated roon had been once used as a business ar chive of the . pparently wealthy and in fluential firm of Murashu Sons of Nip pur, who lived in the time of Artaxerx es I and Darius II, in whose reigns the documents are dated."

"These tablets are mortgages, notelegal contracts and agreements of al kinds, and to read them as they have been translated by Professor Huprech' ne would almost believe them to the work of a modern notary. Perhap the most remarkable record is the first one translated. It is a guarantee that an emerald set in a gold ring will no. fall out for 20 years. It reads as fol
